Cancellation of the T-Shirt Sale: For unforeseen reasons, the LRHS store was not able to open this week. Therefore, our special collection of t-shirts will be postponed to another date. The store will remain closed until further notice. There will be another opportunity to buy the regular clothing from the store later during the year. For the occasions we were supposed to underline with our special collection of t-shirts, we will still encourage our students and staff to wear something that represents the theme of the day. Furthermore, on Thursday February 20th, 2025, on the World's Day of Social Justice, teachers and staff of LRHS will be able to order a free t-shirt, custom made by our English Media class, that illustrates social justice messages. We hope that lots of teachers and students will want one as together, we can make a difference. The orders for this event will be done during lunch in the lower activity area. There will also be a chance to order online. More information to come next week.
